Wessex Partners Marks 10 Years of Strategic Talent Advisory in Private Markets and Investment Banking

Wessex Partners, a leading executive search and advisory firm, proudly celebrates its 10-year anniversary, having served the global private markets and investment banking community with strategic talent solutions since 2015.

Founded by Michaela Rosbrook, Wessex Partners has grown into a transatlantic team with deep expertise across private equity, private credit, infrastructure, real estate, and investment banking. Over the past decade, the firm has played a key role in shaping leadership teams at some of the world's most respected funds and financial institutions, delivering thoughtful, strategic talent solutions in a rapidly evolving market.

Beyond executive search, Wessex Partners has advised clients on strategic tie-ups and acquisition opportunities, helping funds enter new sectors, launch innovative products, and expand into new geographies. This advisory capability has become a defining strength of the firm's long-term partnership approach.

“We are incredibly proud of what Wessex Partners has achieved over the past ten years,” said Michaela Rosbrook, Founder and Managing Partner. “Our success is rooted in the trust of our clients, the capabilities of our team, and a shared belief in the power of long-term collaboration.”

As Wessex Partners enters its second decade, the firm continues to expand its senior team, welcoming professionals from banking, finance, and traditional search backgrounds who bring intellectual rigor, commercial instinct, and a collaborative mindset.

“We are building for the future — with conviction, clarity, and a continued focus on excellence,” added Rosbrook. “We are grateful to our clients and colleagues for being part of this journey.”
